DIVINE WINE

Best bottles from the Russian River Valley

Written by W. Peter Hoynes

November 28, 2018

The Russian River Valley in Sonoma County, California, is home to wineries and vineyards with a mosaic of finely tuned, finesse-driven Pinot Noirs and Chardonnays. Within this heartland of forested rolling hills and complex soils is a community of multi-generational families who have bred winemaking and grape growing into the natural beauty.

Warren Dutton, Joe Rochioli, Gary Farrell, Joseph Swan, Torn Dehlinger and John Balletto have inspired many followers. Each had an untainted vision of what Pinot Noir and Chardonnay could achieve within this inner sanctuary. It is a demographic where vineyards and wineries compete at every level with the best expression of reds and whites from Burgundy, France.

Dutton Estate: This is a sixth-generation family of grape growers and winemakers. With 1,200 acres, the Duttons established their roots in farming agriculture. Warren Dutton, a former apple grower, is embraced as one of the most respected grape growers in the Russian River Valley. Joe Dutton is co-owner of Dutton Ranch, sourcing blue-chip fruit bearing the Dutton name to 80 clients throughout California.

Joe and Tracy Dutton spearhead the Dutton Estate vision. Dutton Chardonnays are easily identifiable for their richly framed style. Recent noteworthy achievements include 2015 Kyndall's Reserve Chardonnay, 2017 Warren's Collection Chardonnay and the 2015 La Familia Pinot Noir.

100 Best Sonoma Wines 2018

by Linda Murphy

Sonoma Magazine's annual selection of the "Top 100 Wines of Sonoma" has been announced

A year ago, wildfires ripped through Sonoma County, destroying lives, homes, and businesses. Wine Country became Fire Country in the eyes of the world, yet paradoxically, flames did relatively little damage to local wineries and vineyards.

A few suffered structural damage, which they've since repaired...Backfires were intentionally set protected many wineries...from the conflagration.

But the major savers of Sonoma wines are the grapevines themselves, living plants with moisture in their veins. They served as natural firebreaks, with flames moving on to easier targets such as trees, brush, and structures.

We celebrate all recovery efforts, with this Top 100 Wines list.

Dutton Family Estate 2017 Kylie's Cuvée Russian River Valley Sauvignon Blanc

Owners Joe and Tracy Dutton have put their recent college graduate daughter Kylie Dutton to work as brand ambassador (that means sales and marketing). This Sauvignon Blanc bearing her name is a tropical extravaganza, loaded with pineapple, papaya, kiwi, honeydew melon, and lemon-lime fruitiness. It's also clean and refreshing.

Kylie Dutton worked the 2018 crush with winemaker Bobby Donnel and continues to assist daily in the cellar. She is engaged in all aspects of the winemaking with Bobby. We may lose her to UC Davis before she works the market!
